We will continue to provide you with the personal attention you deserve throughout the development of your case.

We confer with your doctors to obtain a final report on the prognosis, permanency and cost of future care for the injuries suffered in your accident. In most cases, this extensive preparation and summary result in fair settlements for all the injuries and damages you have sustained in the automobile accident. In the rare cases where the insurance company does not offer a fair settlement, we have the expertise and proven track record to obtain the right result for you.

"The dynamic duo...these two are head and shoulders above the rest."

Excerpts from an article in Milwaukee Lifestyle West, January 1998
"Though Bill Cannon and Pat Dunphy make our [Tenacious Ten] list as individuals, the two have practiced together for 12 years. ...Cannon & Dunphy, S.C. is one of the best-regarded personal injury firms in the state....they both handle auto accidents, employee injuries and medical and legal malpractice.

'We love what we do,' says Cannon. Dunphy agrees: 'I feel like I got my law degree for a socially useful purpose.' Indeed, one Milwaukee lawyer says Cannon and Dunphy are 'righteous about their cases,' that getting into the shoes of their clients makes them more effective.'

From simple automobile accidents to complex medical malpractice cases, the lawyers at Cannon & Dunphy bring their expertise to every case. The following are representative samples of some of the multi-million dollar cases successfully handled by the lawyers at Cannon & Dunphy. The lawyers whose expertise achieved these results are available to handle your automobile accident case.

Infant was two weeks post birth at time of transfusion, off the respirator, stable and progressing nicely with no significant problems. This is the largest paid personal injury verdict in Wisconsin history.***

$25.24 million from partial settlement, jury verdict and judgment with interest to the parents and estate of their daughter against a resident physician. The resident failed to diagnose an acute abdomen in a 15-year old girl and failed to seek a consultation from a senior resident over the next 11 hours which led to the ischemic death of her small bowel and its removal. Complications from this loss of small bowel required 89 additional subsequent surgeries, including two failed small bowel transplants, which ultimately led to her death two years later. This is the second largest medical malpractice award in Wisconsin history.***

$17.2 million jury verdict in a premises liability case involving severe burn injuries to three masons. This is one of the largest personal injury verdicts and the first eight-figure personal injury jury verdict in Wisconsin history.***

$16 million awarded to a patient in a medical malpractice case where a physician inappropriately ordered high dose steroids for an undiagnosed condition. The doctor discontinued the steroids in the face of an infection, which sent the patient into Addisonian Shock, resulting in quadriplegia. This case represents the second largest medical malpractice pretrial settlement in Wisconsin.***

$13.5 million awarded to a family whose 3-year old daughter died 11 days after eating contaminated food at a restaurant. The source of the contamination was E. Coli O157:H7 from a whole intact tri-tip piece of meat manufactured and sold by Excel Corporation, a subsidiary of Cargill Corporation. This is the largest food borne illness case awarded in Wisconsin history.***

$12 million awarded in a motor vehicle accident to two families after an illegally overloaded cement truck ran a red light striking their car, causing the death of the driver and serious permanent brain injuries to the passenger.

"Cannon landed on top."

Excerpts from a Milwaukee Magazine Lawyer's Survey, polling several hundred area attorneys as well as numerous follow-up interviews.

"Cannon and his partner, Patrick Dunphy, recently made headlines for the $17.2 million judgment they won for three Manitowoc burn victims.

...Cannon won the largest malpractice award against the United States in 1982 when he 'uncovered and unraveled the mess' of a former Air Force surgeon who came to Milwaukee and left a woman in a coma after he reversed the lines on a heart-lung machine. The case was featured on 60 Minutes."

"Leading a well-seasoned pack of personal injury attorneys is Patrick Dunphy."

Excerpts from an article in Milwaukee Magazine, October 1999

"Dunphy began his legal career as a defense attorney for insurance companies. Last year, he represented a survivor and the widows of three men killed in a fiery truck-van crash on U.S. Highway 41, settling with Consolidated Freightways for an undisclosed amount."

'He doesn't mislead people, his success is well deserved,' says a peer. 'He can write, he can think and he can try cases,' adds another.'

$10 million medical malpractice award to an 8-month old baby boy for the negligence of a doctor in prescribing an overdose of morphine which caused severe brain damage.

$10 million medical malpractice settlement involving a 10-year old boy. Arterial and venous lines from a heart/lung machine were reversed during open heart surgery resulting in severe brain damage. This is the first eight-figure personal injury settlement in Wisconsin history.***

$9.7 million awarded to an 11-year old boy whose left arm was amputated in a laundromat accident and subsequently reattached. For 10 years before the accident the European manufacturer was aware of a defect which allowed the washing machine door to be opened during operation, but never fixed the defect or warned users of the defect.
